The Game Today: Missouri vs. Nebraska

In 1978 Nebraska was fighting for the national championship and Missouri was fighting to salvage a good season when the two teams collided in Lincoln. In a classic struggle, the Tigers came away 35-31 winners. The situation is much the same today. Could history repeat itself? Ed Cassiere previews the action.

University News: Pulling The String On Puppets 29

The teaching of elementary students takes on an entertaining twist with the use of puppets. Thanks to a summer workshop at the University of Missouri, teachers throughout the state have learned how to incorporate puppets into their classroom teaching and make significant gains in their classes.

Missouri Basketball Big Stuff 30

The anticipation for the 1979-80 Missouri basketball season has been building for several months, and fans can get a preview of things to come when the Tigers meet the Yugoslavian National Team at 7:30 p.m. Friday, Nov. 16 on the eve of the Mizzou-Oklahoma football game. Read about coach Norm Stewart's upcoming squad, in this outlook by Mark Fitzpatrick.

Tiger Player Feature: Norman Goodman 33

Missouri's leading tackler, the senior noseguard is a study in contrasts. Norman Goodman is a wild man on the field, but an easy-going, self-described "mama's boy" off. In an article condensed from the Columbia Missourian, Jeff Krupsaw gives an in-depth description of one of the most popular Tigers.

Matchup: In The Trenches 35

Nebraska's offensive line has paved the way to massive chunks of yardage for its backs this season, and no one has threatened to stop them yet. Now Mizzou's defensive line gears up for the resistance, in an exciting MATCHUP confrontation.

Mizzou Sideline Color: The Golden Girls 67

For years the Golden Girls have added to the color of Missouri football—and this year's group is no exception. Here's your chance to meet the current 25-member dance squad that has become one of the trademarks of the Missouri athletic scene.

Special thanks to the UMC Office of Public Information, the Academic Support Center, the Sports Information Office of the University of Nebraska, the Columbia Missourian and all our advertisers who made this program possible.

The Game Today

The result may vary, but the setting for today's Missouri-Nebraska game could be compared to last year's game.

In one corner is Nebraska, ranked second in the nation with a 7-0 record (3-0 in the Big Eight Conference), destroying opponents at will and setting its sights on a conference title, another Orange Bowl appearance and a possible national championship.

In the other corner is Missouri, once 3-0, once a top 10 team and once considered a serious contender for the Big Eight title. But losses to Oklahoma State and Kansas State give the Tigers a 1-2 conference record and a 4-3 overall mark.

For the Cornhuskers, today's game could be considered another stop on the way to other destinations. For the Tigers, today's game could be a good place to win and begin the salvage of the 1979 season.

I-back I. M. Hipp is one of the standouts in Nebraska's offense, which leads the nation in total yards and rushing yards.

Those same objectives clashed last season at Lincoln, when the Tigers stunned Nebraska 35-31 and spoiled the Cornhuskers' hopes of an outright conference title.

Missouri, meanwhile, finished 7-4 and received a Liberty Bowl bid to play LSU.

The Tigers earned their win over Nebraska. All they had to do was (1) recover from Rick Berns' 82-yard scoring run on the game's first play from scrimmage and (2) rally twice from 10-point deficits after they recovered.

That accomplished, the game became one of the most memorable in the series, which originated in 1892.

James Wilder's 181 rushing yards and four touchdowns — including all three Missouri scores in the second half — were part of a balanced Tiger attack that gained 476 yards (289 rushing, 187 passing) and 25 first downs.

The victory was Missouri's third straight in Lincoln, but the Tigers haven't beaten Nebraska at Fawcett Field since 1973.

Nebraska will display an impressive offense led by junior I-back Jarvis Redwine, a transfer from Oregon State. In the Cornhuskers' 38-10 win over Colorado last week, Redwine rushed for 206 yards on 18 carries and scored three touchdowns.

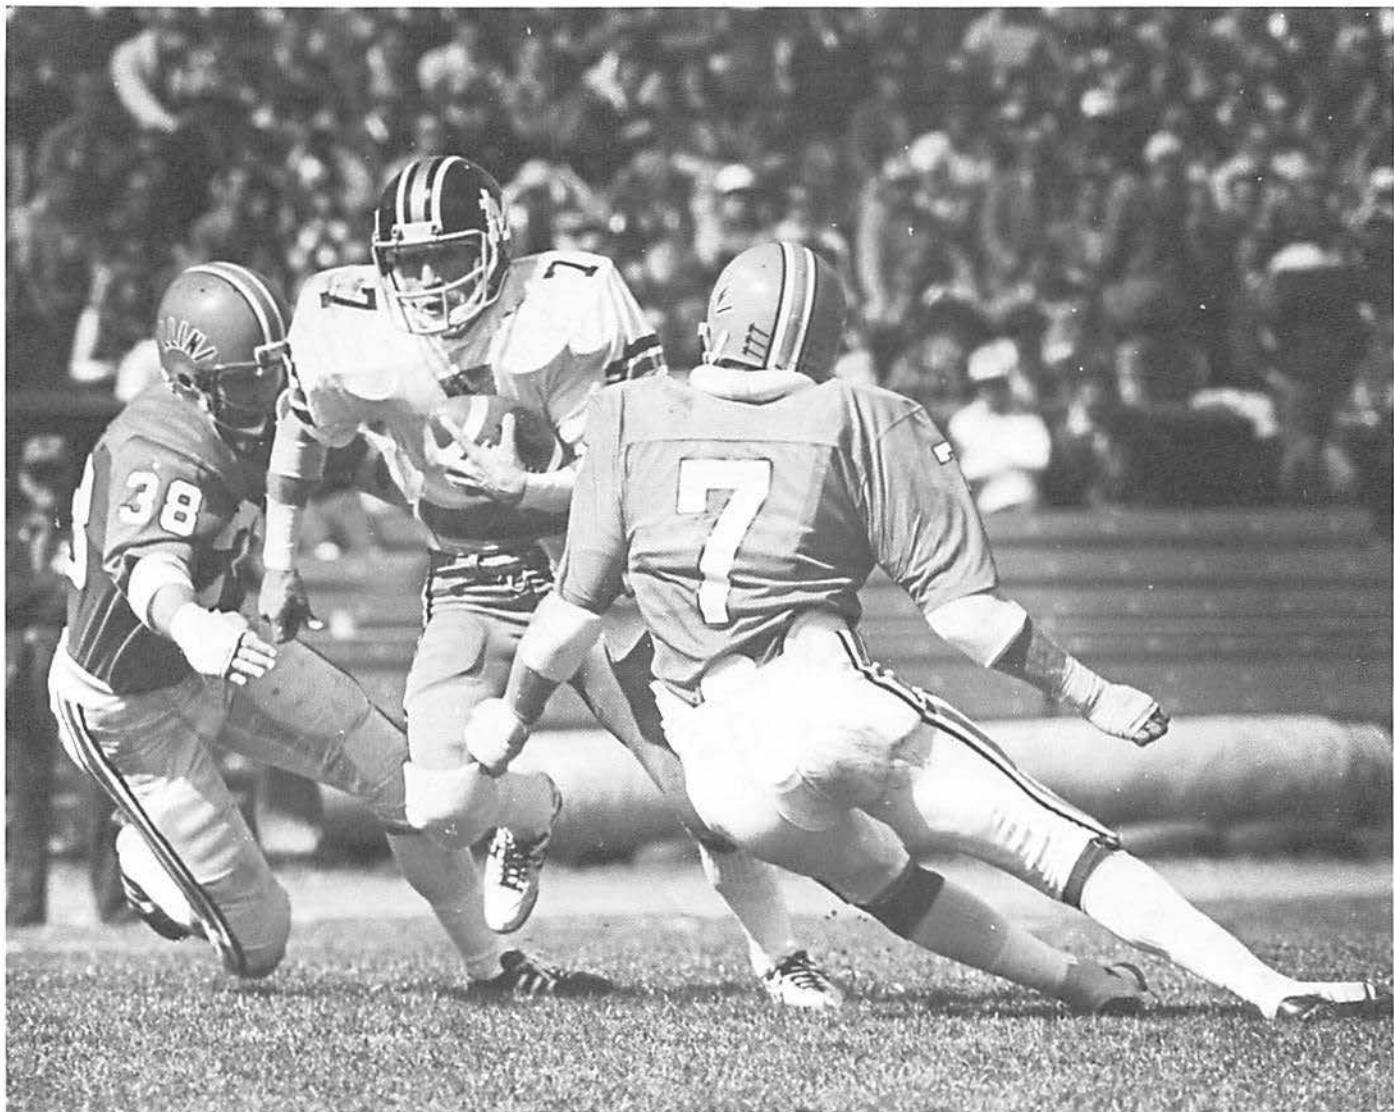

Teammates Andra Franklin and I. M. Hipp added 70 and 57 yards, respectively, as the Huskers took the national lead in rushing yards per game from Alabama.

Hipp has never been effective against Missouri. Although the senior had 2,447 yards his first two seasons, he has gained only 67 yards on 33 carries in two games against the Tigers.

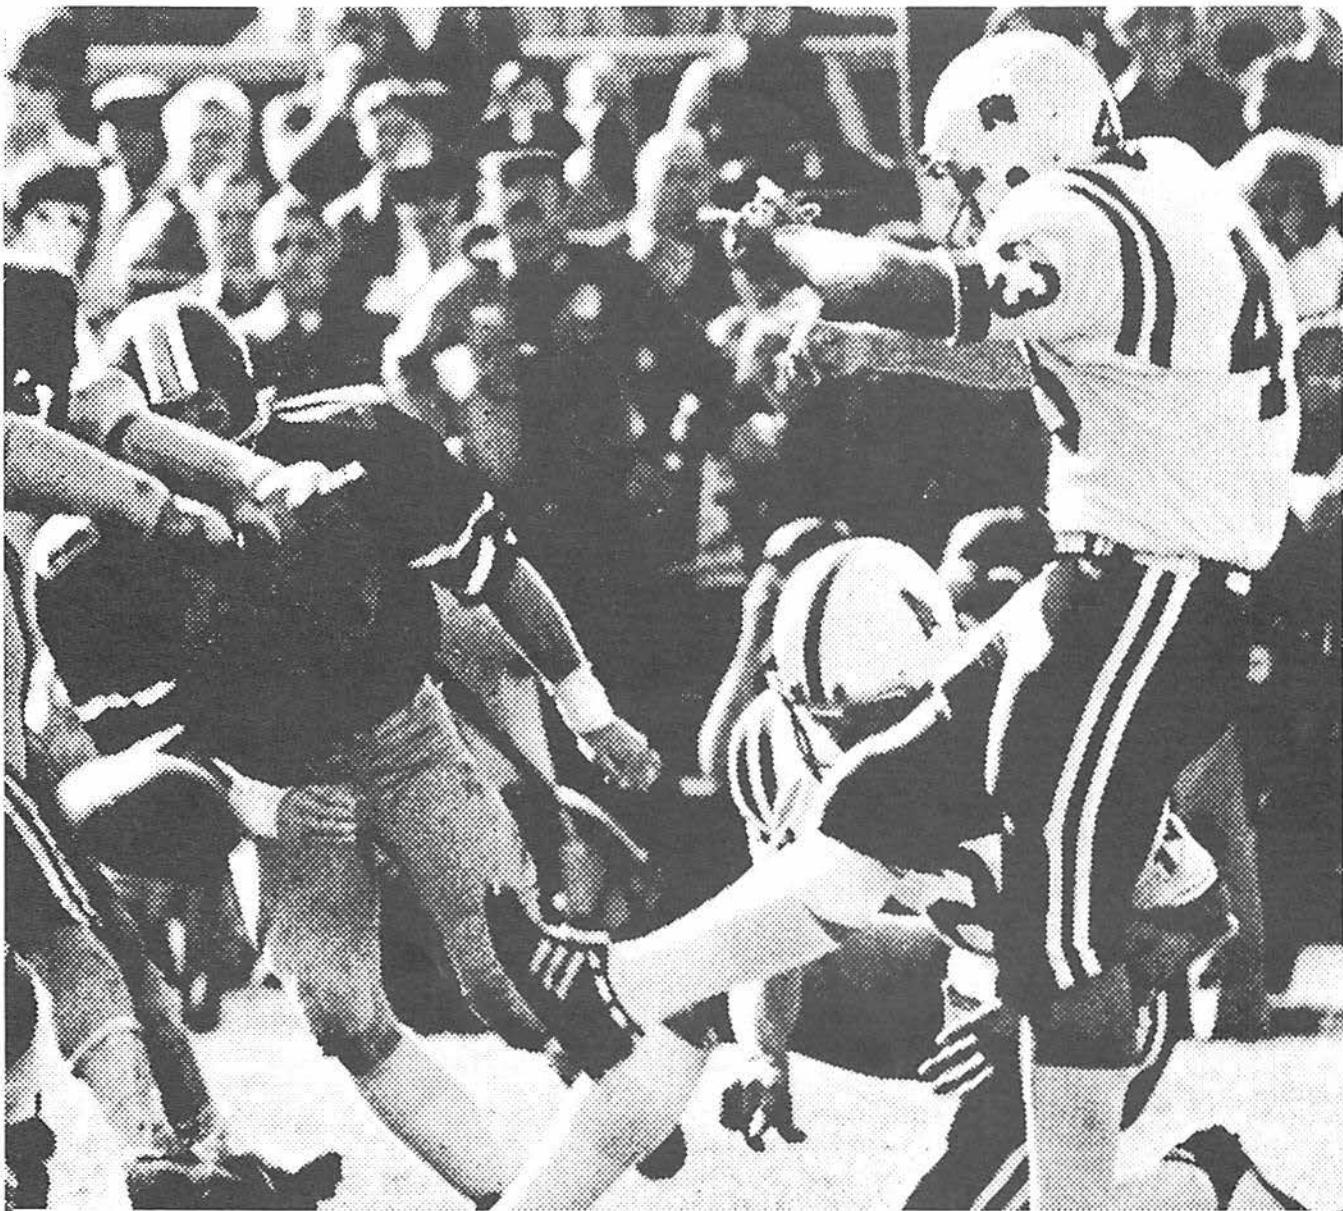

The Cornhuskers gained 479 total yards — 452 rushing — and held Colorado to 146 total yards. Nebraska's top defenders include tackle Rod Horn, an all-league selection by UPI last season, and middle guard Kerry Weinmaster, a three-year starter who leads defensive returnees in minutes played.

Bright spots were minimal in Missouri's 19-3 Homecoming loss to Kansas State last week. Quarterback Phil Bradley became the Tigers' career leader in pass completions and total offense yards while cornerback Bill Whitaker intercepted two passes to raise his season total to six. He leads the Big Eight in pass thefts and ranks second nationally.

Nebraska leads the Missouri series 37-32 with three ties. The Cornhuskers won 21-10 at Fawcett Field in 1977 after trailing 10-9 at halftime.

Mizzou flanker David Newman has caught 11 passes for 127 yards in the last three games.

The University

As the Columbia campus of the University of Missouri begins its 140th year, new faces are evident—in major administrative positions and in the look of the landscape.

Chancellor Barbara S. Uehling is in her second year as chief executive, a new administrative structure is taking shape, and the venerable campus physical plant boasts new facilities for the nursing and journalism schools.

Dr. Uehling has streamlined the campus central administration by placing all academic programs under the office of provost, a position filled for the 1979-80 academic year by Dr. Owen Koeppe. Vice chancellors have been named for student services, administrative services, and alumni affairs and development.

A new position—director of institutional research and planning—has been filled by Dr. Duane Stucky, who performed the same task at the University of Oklahoma. Another major change is the appointment of a director of the university hospital reporting to the chancellor.

The chancellor's emphasis on providing opportunities for women and minorities will be centered in the office of the director of equal opportunity, a position for which a nationwide search was still being conducted early this fall.

In her first year, Uehling organized a task force to investigate problems of minority students. Out of task force hearings came recommendations for better recruitment and advisement programs. Workshops for minority high school students from Missouri during the summer were a part of the Affirmative Action effort.

Commitment to women's concerns resulted in presentation by the American Association of University Women of a national award to UMC for leadership in women's studies and expansion of the women's athletic program.

Additions to the journalism and nursing schools will be in full use by the end of the academic year. The Missouri General Assembly provided funding for both additions, and the Frank Gannett Newspaper Foundation's gift of $665,000 assured construction of the journalism facilities.

The new nursing facilities allow for an increase in the student body in a time when the need for professional nurses far exceeds the supply.

The Columbia campus is the largest component of the University of Missouri. Other campuses are at Kansas City, Rolla and St. Louis. Governance of the UM system rests with the Board of Curators, a panel of nine Missouri citizens. Members are appointed by the governor and confirmed by the state senate.

Chief executive officer of the University system is Dr. James C. Olson, who is in his third year as president after serving as chancellor of the Kansas City campus.

UMC is the largest and oldest UM campus, established in 1839 as the first state university west of the Mississippi River. At UMC more than 23,000 students are enrolled in one of the most comprehensive academic programs in the nation. Although teaching is the prime concern of these academic units, they are also involved in research and public service missions as well.

Often supported by governmental or foundation grants, researchers uncover new knowledge that forms the teaching base. Research facilities on the campus are nationally known. Examples are the Dalton Research Center and the Nuclear Research Reactor in Research Park, located south and west of Faurot Field. UMC scientists at the Dalton Center recently won, in international competition, the right to move to Columbia a unique microscope that allows investigation of blood circulation in the tiniest parts of the vascular system.

Through its extension component, UMC delivers knowledge to people who cannot take courses as resident students. Printed materials, television, correspondence courses and workshops are used to get information to those who need it.

UMC's success is best measured by the accomplishments of its graduates, and they have distinguished themselves in every aspect of business, industry and government. Living alumni number more than 125,000. Through the Alumni Association, many retain close ties with their alma mater, aiding in efforts to enroll and retain outstanding students.

In its 140th year, the University of Missouri-Columbia is both old and young, steeped in history but teaching the latest advancements. As John Masefield said in describing the academic setting . . . "It is a place where those who hate ignorance may strive to know, where those who perceive truth may strive to make others see, where seekers and learners alike, banded together in the search for knowledge, will honor thought in all its finer ways. Wherever a university stands . . . the free minds of men, urged on to full and fair inquiry, may still bring wisdom into human affairs."

Dr. James C. Olson President

Dr. James C. Olson is the 16th president of the University of Missouri. As its chief administrative officer—presiding over a four-campus system that includes 37 academic divisions with an enrollment of more than 50,000 students—he administers a university system that ranks among the top 20 in size nationally.

He was named president on March 18, 1977, after serving nine months as interim president and eight years as chancellor of UM-Kansas City.

Before joining the UM system, Dr. Olson was director of the Nebraska State Historical Society from 1946-56; a professor and chairman of the University of Nebraska-Lincoln history department, 1956-65; associate dean of UN-Lincoln's graduate college and director of graduate program development, 1966-68; and vice chancellor for graduate studies and research in 1968.

His degrees are in history. He received an A.B. from Morningside College at Sioux City, Iowa in 1938; and M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from UN-Lincoln in 1939 and 1942, respectively. He received an honorary LL.D. from Morningside in 1968.

Dr. Olson was born Jan. 23, 1917, in Bradgate, Iowa. He and his wife, Vera, have two grown daughters.

Dr. Barbara S. Uehling Chancellor

Dr. Barbara Uehling is the chief administrative officer of the University of Missouri-Columbia, the largest of four campuses within the UM system. As UMC chancellor, she manages a budget of more than $150 million for a campus of 23,000 students and 8,000 employees.

She became UMC chancellor on July 17, 1978, after serving two years as provost at the University of Oklahoma. Prior to her tenure at Oklahoma, she was dean of arts and science at Illinois State University and served as academic dean of Roger Williams College in Rhode Island. She also was a faculty member at Oglethorpe University and Emory University, both in Atlanta, Ga.

Dr. Uehling is a 1954 graduate of Wichita State University which honored her in 1978 with a distinguished alumni award. She received M.A. and Ph.D. degrees in experimental psychology from Northwestern University, and was awarded an honorary degree from Drury College in Springfield, Mo.

Dr. Uehling has served as president of the American Association for Higher Education and in 1979 was elected to head the National Center for Higher Education Management Systems' board of directors. She has served on a number of national task forces and committees concerned with higher education.

Prof. Henry Lowe Faculty Representative

Henry T. Lowe, professor of law at Missouri, has been the university's faculty representative to the Big Eight and the NCAA for the last seven years.

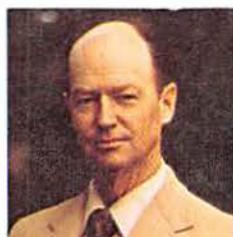

Lowe, a native of Colorado Springs, has been a member of the UMC faculty since 1959. Prior to coming to Columbia he practiced law for six years in Portland, Ore.

Lowe earned his A.B. degree from Colorado College and his law degree from the Harvard Law School.

Among the honors Lowe has received are the James Lewis Parks professorship of law, one of the named professorships created after a gift from the Dorothy H. and Lewis Rosenstiel foundation. He also was named the recipient of a Faculty Achievement Award from the UMC Alumni Association in 1977.

In 1971, Lowe became chairman of the university's Committee on Intercollegiate Athletics, succeeding Pinkney C. Walker. The committee is the administrative agency of the university's athletic program and is composed of faculty-alumni members.

Lowe held that position until 1977. He continues to serve as a member of the committee now headed by Dr. Frederick C. Spiegel of the Political Science department.

Dave Hart Director of Athletics

Dave Hart is in his second year as Mizzou's director of athletics, but in that short time he has had a major impact on the success of Tiger sports.

Hart came to Columbia in June, 1978 after five years as A.D. at the University of Louisville. Among the accomplishments of his department in the past year were record home attendance in football, bigger crowds in basketball, increased contributions to the program, and new, more lucrative contracts for network radio rights.

On the playing fields in 1978-79, the Tiger men compiled the Big Eight's best all-sports record while the women reached new national highs in almost every sport.

Hart's coaching background was primarily in football. After a successful prep coaching career in Pennsylvania, he was assistant on the college level at Kentucky and Navy. He was head coach at Pittsburgh for four years and briefly a scout for the Dallas Cowboys.

Hart holds a master's degree in Administration from Pittsburgh and spent 28 months in the U.S. Air Force, flying 30 missions and earning a distinguished flying cross. Prior to working at Louisville, he was an assistant professor of social sciences at Robert Morris College in Pittsburgh—and was four years an assistant to the school's president.

Warren Powers

In his second year as head coach of the Missouri Tigers, Warren Powers brings a youthful vitality to a program steeped in tradition.

At his first press conference in Columbia after he was named to the job, Powers told the media that his immediate goals were "to win football games, the Big Eight and go to bowl games."

The incoming coach fulfilled two of those three promises in his first season as Tiger head man. Powers and his staff guided their first Mizzou team to an 8-4 season capped by a 20-15 victory over Louisiana State in the Liberty Bowl. Missouri was ranked 14th and 16th, respectively, in the final Associated Press and United Press International polls. The Tigers tied for third place in the Big Eight standings.

It was a year spiced by upsets of nationally-ranked Notre Dame and Nebraska. It was a year reward by an unexpected, prestigious honor—the Coach-of-the-Year award presented by the Walter Camp Football Foundation.

A positive individual, intense and energetic, Powers works at being a successful football coach with a single-minded passion. He does not downplay pre-season hype about his team, nor deny that the Tigers are a legitimate Big Eight contender stalking their first conference title in a decade.

Powers is no stranger to Big Eight football. He played his collegiate ball as an offensive and defensive back at Nebraska from 1960-62—and was named the Huskers' MVP his senior season. He then played defensive back for the Oakland Raiders for six years (1963-68) and started for Oakland in the 1968 Super Bowl game.

While with the Raiders, Powers led the team in interceptions for four straight years (1964-67) and set a club record of 21 interceptions during that span.

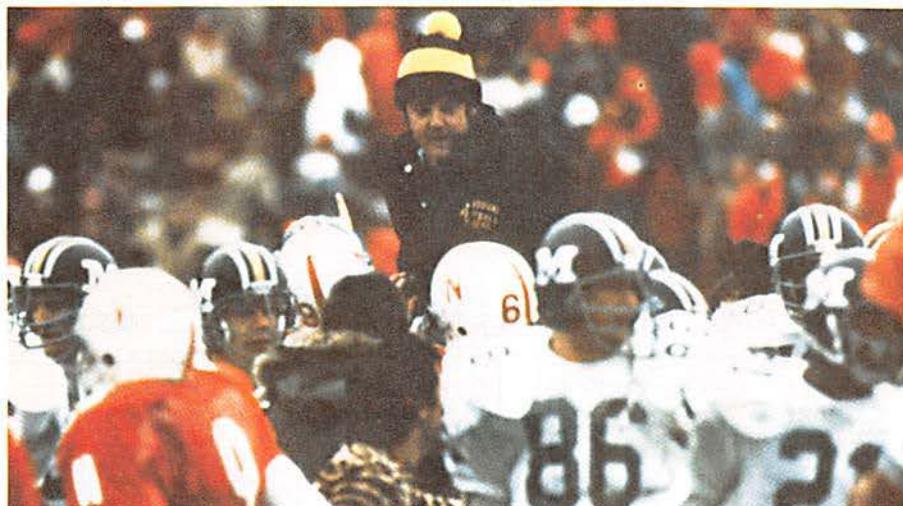

In the off-season he coached Nebraska's secondary during spring practice—and subsequently spent eight years as a fulltime assistant on the Cornhusker staff from 1969-76.

During those years the Huskers posted a 78-14-5 record that included national titles in 1970 and '71 and five Big Eight championships or co-championships. All eight teams played in bowl games.

Powers' first head coaching opportunity took him to Washington State in 1977. There he debuted with a smashing 19-10 upset of his alma mater, Nebraska at Lincoln, earning him Pacific-8 and national coach-of-the-week honors. His pass-oriented attack featured the talents of Jack Thompson, the nation's number two passer, and the Cougars finished with a 6-5 record.

A native of Kansas City, Mo., Powers attended Lillis High School where he was a smallish, all-state quarterback unrecruited by his home-state school. He was graduated from Nebraska in 1963 with a B.S. degree in Business Administration. His wife is the former Linda Hoerig of St. Louis, a former Mizzou student and pom-pom girl.

Powers was the highest Tiger of all after Mizzou's 1978 upset of Nebraska—his alma mater.

Something's missing at Faurot Field.

It's an ugly, grass-like weed called yellow nutsedge, and it used to drive the groundskeepers up the wall. It was that thick and tough.

The yellow nutsedge problem had been around a long time, simply because there was no way to get rid of it, without hurting the turf. Now there is a way.

Basagran® herbicide.

Basagran is widely used in farming to control tough weeds—particularly in soybean fields. Recently the EPA cleared Basagran for use on turf. Just look across Faurot Field today, and you'll realize: Chemicals can, indeed, be beautiful.

Tiger Fight Songs

“Old Missouri”

Old Missouri, fair Missouri
Dear old Varsity,
Ours are hearts that fondly love
thee
Here's a hail to thee.

Chorus

Proud art thou in classic beauty
Of thy noble past
With thy watchwords-honor, duty
Thy high fame shall last.

Every student, man and maiden,
Swells the glad refrain,
Till the breezes music laden
Waft it back again.

Chorus

“Every True Son”

Every true son, so happy hearted,
Skys above us are blue,
There's a spirit so deep within us,
Old Missouri here's to you (rah rah);

When the band plays the Tiger
war song,
And when the fray is through,

We will tramp, tramp around the columns,
With a cheer, for old, Mizzou!

“Fight, Tigers”

Fight, Tiger, fight for old Mizzou,
Right behind you, everyone is with you,
Break the line and follow down the field,
And you'll be, on the top, upon the top;

Fight, Tiger, you will always win,
Proudly keep the colors flying skyward,

In the end we'll win the victory,
So Tigers, fight for Old Mizzou'

Puppetry Keeps Students On String

Armed with enthusiasm, imagination, a needle and thread, nine elementary school teachers and their instructor emerged from a three-week workshop this summer at the University of Missouri-Columbia with a new teacher's helper—a puppet.

Under the tutelage of Dr. Joyce Montgomery, principal of the Unionville, Mo., elementary school and UMC doctoral graduate, the teachers made puppets and learned how to incorporate them into their classroom teaching.

The real beneficiaries of the workshop are not the teachers, but the children they will be teaching—elementary school and junior high students, the mentally retarded and speech impaired.

The teachers plan to use their puppets in a variety of ways—to improve language development and communication, to bolster self-esteem and to gain initial attention when teaching a difficult or tedious lesson.

"I want to build a puppet stage in my classroom and perform shows that integrate as many subjects as possible," said Judy Harmon, a teacher from Hallsville. "That helps children take the bits and pieces they learn in different subjects and put them all together."

Some of the teachers will go another step and teach their students to make their own puppets.

"When the children make their own, the puppets can be used to bring out the students' personalities and overcome shyness," said Janet Gundy, a kindergarten teacher in Lexington, Mo.

Dr. Montgomery heartily endorses such projects. She has seen the immense satisfaction children get from making their own puppets. "One day, a little boy in one of my classes looked up at me all excited when he finished his puppet and exclaimed 'I just feel like God - I've created something!'"

Montgomery has used puppets in her own classes for a wide range of purposes . . . from teaching scientific principles of flying to coaxing shy children to ask questions when a subject puzzles them.

The stars of her repertoire of hand-made puppets include Muppet-style Susie, a shy school girl who can't quite believe the teacher loves her just for who she is, and Benji, a feisty racoon who's not a bit afraid to pipe up when he has a question.

"Run that by me again, Joyce, that was just a little beyond me," Benji will say when Dr. Montgomery is tackling new material.

Another favorite is Grandpa, who sits in an open drawer of Dr. Montgomery's desk most of the time. Grandpa's afflicted with hearing problems, though. He turns cantankerous and shuts himself up in the drawer, refusing to come out when the children aren't speaking up in class.

Montgomery firmly believes in the educational value of puppets, and she has a dissertation to back her up. She integrated puppetry into her curriculum for third graders in Unionville, and tested the students to see how much knowledge the children retained.

She made significant gains in all of her classes.

"But there were some things I couldn't measure," she added, "like the enthusiasm, excitement anticipation those children felt with the puppets."

"The children think of those puppets as being alive, and take them very seriously."

She illustrated her point with an anecdote.

"I gave a puppet show to kindergartners several years ago in Kirksville. The star was Ramo, an elephant puppet that was full of love for all the other animals. But he was so thin-skinned, that all the other animals made fun of him.

"Recently, I was back in the area and a little girl ran up to me and solemnly told me, 'Mrs. Montgomery, I still remember Ramo and I still will not make fun of anyone that's different.'"

Dr. Joyce Montgomery and friends

Get Ready For

By Mark Fitzpatrick

One thing's for sure about the 1979-80 Missouri basketball season—there's anticipation.

Enough anticipation that students camped outside the Hearnes Center for eight-and-a-half days in order to be first in line for seats.

Enough that billboards and bumper stickers proclaiming the talents of the Tigers are popping up throughout the state.

Enough that Missouri is being mentioned as a legitimate contender for the Big Eight championship and top 20 rankings.

Enough that this football-mad state has come down with some Basketball Fever, and its symptoms have caused the fortunes of the Mizzou cagers to move towards the forefront in discussions of the University's sports scene.

Why all the fuss over a team that finished 13-15 in 1978-79?

First of all, that record is a bit deceiving. Last year the most youthful squad in Norm Stewart's 12 Missouri campaigns (at one point three freshmen and a sophomore were in the starting lineup) survived a rugged non-conference schedule to make a serious run at the Big Eight title, before eventually tying for second. Eight lettermen, including four starters, return from that team.

Then, Stewart won two major recruiting battles—one over UCLA, Notre Dame, Duke, Kentucky and North Carolina for 6-11 center Steve Stipanovich, the other over Arkansas and Texas for 6-2 guard Jon Sundvold.

Add to that group 6-5 transfer forward Ricky Frazier, the 1978 Metro Conference Freshman of the Year, and Mizzou looks primed for a good season.

"When looking at the positive aspects," says Stewart, "three things stand out. We have a large group of players with game experience returning. We had a good recruiting year which hopefully filled in our gaps, and we have Ricky Frazier eligible after his transfer."

Mizzou may have the ammunition to overcome any problems. A year ago the Tigers led the conference in scoring during the Big Eight season, and directing the offense again will be guards Larry Drew and Steve Wallace, the Big Eight's highest scoring backcourt duo in 1978-79.

Drew comes off a banner junior year and looks ticketed for some top honors. Last season he was a second-team all-Big Eight choice and a selection on the Sporting News All-Midlands squad. He led the team in scoring (15.2), assists (121) and steals (44) while shooting just under 50 percent from the field. The 6-2 senior became the first Missouri player ever to reach the 1,000-career point mark as a junior, and is almost assured of breaking school records for career games played and games started. He would become Mizzou's all-time leading scorer if he duplicates his 426-point performance of 1978-79.

Wallace, a 6-3 junior, averaged 13.4 points an outing, but was an 18.2 scorer his last 13 games. The Big Eight's leading free throw shooter after transferring from State Fair (Mo.) Junior College, he was named the conference's Newcomer of the Year by Basketball Times and was Big Eight Player of the Week Feb. 26, after scoring a total of 39 points in wins over Kansas State and Iowa State.

Leading the returnees up front is the 6-7 Curtis Berry. Moved from forward to center in mid-year, Berry became the league's dominant player the first half of the conference season until he was felled by a sprained ankle. His top performance was a 20-point, 20-rebound effort in Missouri's 58-55 win over Kansas at Lawrence. He ended with a 13.5 scoring average and a team-leading 9.0 rebound rate—figures that translated to 15.0 and 9.9 when he was healthy. Despite missing parts of seven games he was impressive enough to earn honorable mention all-Big Eight recognition.

Returning with Berry on the front line are a pair of 6-6 sophomore forwards—Mark Dressler (5.5, 4.0), who started 18 games, and Kirk Shawver (3.5, 2.4), who started seven; 7-2 senior center Tom Dore (3.8, 2.6), who had a 20-point, 13-rebound performance in an overtime win at Iowa State; and 6-9 junior Carl Amos, who earned a letter in 20 appearances that included three starts.

Curtis Berry was Missouri's top rebounder and second-leading scorer in 1978-79. He twice had 20 rebounds in a game.

'Big Stuff'

The other returning letterman is defensive specialist Mike Foster, a 6-3 swingman who has given Stewart some big late-game performances off the bench the last two years.

The only regular gone from last season is graduated forward Brad Droy (10.4, 5.4), but the presence of Stipanovich and Frazier give the front line depth.

Stipanovich was named to every high school All-American team and was rated one of the top three big men among prep by Sports Illustrated. He averaged 24.8 points and 12.7 rebounds while leading St. Louis DeSmet High School to a 32-0 record and a second straight Missouri state championship. He shot 62 percent from the field and 79 percent from the free throw line while helping the Spartans to their current 60-game winning streak.

Frazier, who sat out last season after transferring from St. Louis U., was the 1978 Metro Conference Freshman of the Year. he led the Billikens with a 13.7 scoring average after twice earning all-state honors at Charleston (Mo.) High School.

Sundvold, the other newcomer, is a solid candidate for the number three guard spot—an area where the Tigers lacked consistency in 1978-79. Sundvold averaged 32 points and 12 assists for Blue Springs (Mo.) High School which finished 23-5. Like Stipanovich, he was named one of the top 50 prep basketball players in the country by Basketball Weekly.

Larry Drew (below) and Steve Wallace (above right) formed the Big Eight's highest scoring guard combination in 1978-79. Drew became the first Tiger ever to have scored 1,000 points before his senior season, while Wallace averaged more than 18 points the final 13 games and was selected Big Eight Newcomer of the Year by Basketball Times.

His manner is mild, but show him a football field and he goes wild. Norman Goodman is from Metropolis and the lockerroom is his telephone booth.

He is a 6-foot-2, 225-pound senior noseguard for the Missouri football team. Goodman leads the team in tackles with 77 and is coming off a 13-tackle performance against Kansas State last week.

On the field, he is mean, fast and quick. He takes on opposing lines with a single body.

"His breakdowns come because he tries to do the whole thing himself," said defensive coordinator Carl Reese. "He tries to be superman a little bit."

In high school, he was an all-state running back. Goodman also played linebacker in high school before becoming an All-American tight end at Fort Scott Junior College in Kansas.

He calls himself a mama's boy.

Goodman is casual. He wears jeans and a black cowboy hat. Remember before the Mississippi game when ABC took his pre-game picture in his favorite duds?

He travels around the Tiger practice field under the guidance of defensive line coach George Wheeler. His favorite saying is "Aaaaal Rrrright - Aaaaal Rrrright."

When Goodman came to Missouri, Junior College All-America met NCAA All-America Kellen Winslow. Goodman was second team. Then Goodman, a junior, met senior Mike Owens. He was then third-string tight end.

"Then they moved me down the line," Goodman said. "They moved me to wide receiver then to split end. For awhile there I thought they were setting me up to cut me or something. I kept my head up, I'm going to keep trying, you know. I was doing good at what I was doing."

Goodman became the caviar of the special teams. He was the clothes-liner. He was the body-smasher. He was the favorite of the Faurot Field audience. Some fans started a Norman Goodman fan club.

But the journey continued. Now the coaches moved him to defensive end. And he liked it there.

"I like it there because Coach (Mark) Heydorff is the funniest coach of them all," Goodman said. "He keeps you happy, but he gets the job done — you see how much fun Wendell (Ray) has out there. But then you always hear Wheeler — you know, I could hear him eating guys up."

"George Wheeler really makes you want to do something for him," Goodman said. "He keeps you up everyday in practice and you practice the way you play. Coach Wheeler tries to emphasize keeping everybody aroused. He keeps you up no matter if you're losing or not — you should never give up. Never die."

Goodman is no quitter. If Missouri Coach Warren Powers were to ask Goodman to return kicks, No. 98 would be standing at the goaline for the opening kickoff. If Powers asked him to switch back to tight end, he'd do so willingly. Goodman, in fact, feels he could play both tight end and noseguard. He's disappointed that he can no longer track kicks downfield on the special teams.

To this superman, inactivity is the kryptonite that might sap his strength. Goodman is hyper, he needs to roam. He loves to explore. He loves to play football almost more than anything in his world.

But Goodman's heart is not made out of pigskin. Though this season has been successful, worries remain. But it's not the future Goodman concerns himself with. Norman thinks about his mother, Rose Goodman.

She is a nurse at Columbia Regional hospital. Mom and two of Goodman's brothers now live in Columbia. And he worries about her constantly. He worries for her health, transportation to and from work and for her future.

Mrs. Goodman does not have a reliable car and she hasn't been feeling well lately.

"That's hard times," Goodman said. "Because you've got to wake up in the morning wondering how she's going to get to work. You don't want her to take the bus home from work."

"It's been worrying me that she had to go for another brain scan this week. I don't know what's going to happen."

"Mom comes first. Everybody thinks I'm joking when I say I'm going out to mom's house, but I'm more or less a mama's boy."

In a word, the 1979 Nebraska offense has been overwhelming.

The Cornhuskers rank first in the nation in total offense with 517.1 yards a game. They rank first in rushing offense with a 384-yard average. They have outscored their opponents by the margin of 274-62 in running up a 7-0 record and reaching the number two spot in the AP and UPI rankings.

While the melodic names most often associated with this high-powered attack are those of I-backs Jarvis Redwine and I.M. Hipp, the real workhorses of the club are up front — tackles Mark Goodspeed and Dan Steiner, guards John Havekost and Randy Schleusener and center Kelly Saalfeld.

Ironically, the offensive line was where Nebraska was supposedly hit hardest by graduation, as Saalfeld was the only returning starter. But the Husker redshirt program has paid off. All five of the current starters have been red-shirted during their collegiate careers — and all five have developed into excellent blockers, particularly on the run.

Today they MATCHUP against a Missouri defensive line which has consistently been the bright spot during this frustrating 1979 season. The Tigers have allowed 151.3 yards a game on the ground — and added 14 quarterback sacks. Keyed by noseguard Norman Goodman (see page 33), who leads the team with 77 tackles, Mizzou has held up tough in the trenches and turned in two game-winning goal-line stands against Illinois and Colorado.

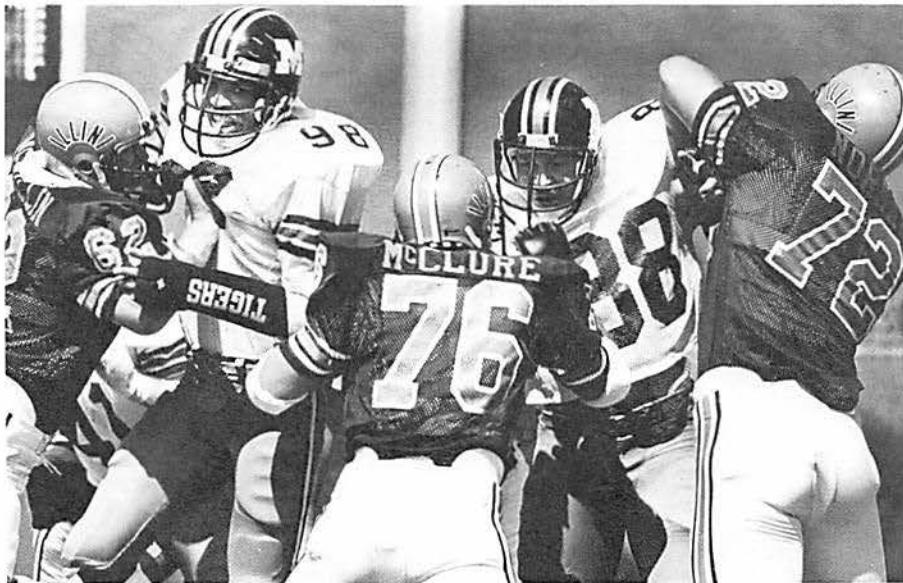

Two individual confrontations highlight today's MATCHUP. One is Goodman against Saalfeld. Both appear ticketed for post-season honors, both are seniors, and above all, both love to knock heads.

At left tackle for Nebraska, Goodspeed has come out of nowhere to become one of the Big Eight's best. After three seasons of injuries, Goodspeed went into the year listed as number two at his position. No more. He's a solid first-teamer now and could vie for all-conference recognition.

Up against him for some of today's action is the talented defensive right end of coach Warren Powers' defense — junior Wendell "Sting" Ray. The man who frequently comes up with the big play, Ray has been bothered in the last two games by a recurring right ankle sprain. He's feeling healthier now, and with his great quickness he'll provide a tough challenge for the powerful 260-pound Goodspeed.

Hopefully, for Tiger fans, the entire defensive line will be the toughest challenge of the season for the Cornhuskers.

Matchup

Seniors Norman Goodman (98) and Kurt Petersen are the veterans of Missouri's defensive line.

THE FIRST CHEVY OF THE '80S. CITATION. OUR MOST SUCCESSFUL NEW CAR EVER.

Ever since its introduction, people have been flooding Chevy showrooms across the country to see the 1980 Chevy Citation. And according to Retail Delivery Reports, 33,765 units were sold in its first three weeks, more than any new entry Chevrolet has ever introduced.

MID-SIZE ROOM FOR 5.

Citation's engine is mounted sideways, so the passenger compartment can be bigger. In fact, in EPA interior dimensions, Citation is classified as a mid-size car. With the back seat folded down there's room enough for two adults in front and 30 bags of groceries in back.

0 TO 50 IN 9 SECONDS FLAT WITH THE AVAILABLE V6.

In engineering tests, Citation goes from 0 to 50 in 9 seconds flat. That's with available 2.8 Liter V6 engine and automatic transmission. California figures not available. (Citation is equipped with GM-built engines produced by various divisions. See your dealer for details.)

WE ARE EXCELLENCE

EASY ON GAS. 24 EPA ESTIMATED MPG. 38 HIGHWAY ESTIMATE.

That's with Citation's standard 2.5 Liter 4-cylinder engine and manual transmission. (Manual transmission currently not available in California. Calif. estimates lower.)

Citation's standard 4-speed transmission is made to conserve gas. It's an overdrive. And at cruising speeds the 4th gear lets the engine run slower than with a conventional transmission, helping to get impressive fuel economy.

IMPRESSIVE LONG-RANGE CRUISING ESTIMATES, TOO.

And Citation's long-range cruising estimates are just as impressive. 336 miles based on EPA estimated MPG (city) mileage figures, and 532 miles based on estimated highway MPG. Range figures obtained by multiplying Citation's 14-gallon fuel tank capacity rating by the EPA mileage estimates.

REMEMBER: Compare the circled estimated MPG to the estimated MPG of other cars. You may get different mileage and range depending on your speed, trip length and weather. Your actual city mileage and range will be less in heavy city traffic. Your actual mileage will probably be less than the highway estimate.

YOU'VE GOT TO DRIVE IT TO BELIEVE IT.

When you drive Citation you'll see what all the excitement is about. The way it feels. The way it maneuvers. The way it rides. And Citation's front wheel drive puts approximately 65% of its weight over the "driving wheels" to give you impressive traction on wet or snowy roads.

IT'S A WHOLE NEW KIND OF COMPACT CAR.

There's still a lot about Citation that we haven't mentioned. Like slip stream design to cut down on wind resistance and wind noise. The hidden cargo area in all hatchback models, so what's inside is protected from view. A dual diagonal braking system. And much, much more. That's why we encourage you to see your Chevy dealer and test drive the 1980 Chevy Citation today. This could be the car you've had in mind.

The University of Nebraska, now an institution of three major components—the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, the University of Nebraska at Omaha and the University of Nebraska Medical Center at Omaha—and a collection of agricultural experiment stations and related offices across the state, was chartered by the Nebraska Legislature in 1869 and held its first classes in 1871 in a three-story brick building on the outskirts of Lincoln.

At its chartering, the University was committed to instruct agriculture, "the mechanic arts" and military tactics by the terms of the Land-Grant College Act of 1862, to which the Legislature subscribed. These special endeavors, however, were made parts of the total University program with the result that Nebraska, unlike some of its neighbors, has had but one major institution of higher education.

The early years were fraught with internal ideological conflicts, with financial problems and with shortages of collegiate students. The University not only survived without interruption, it managed to establish the first program of graduate education west of the Mississippi in the mid-1880s. By 1909 it had attained a membership in the select Association of American Universities, a tribute to the high quality of its faculty and scholastic programs.

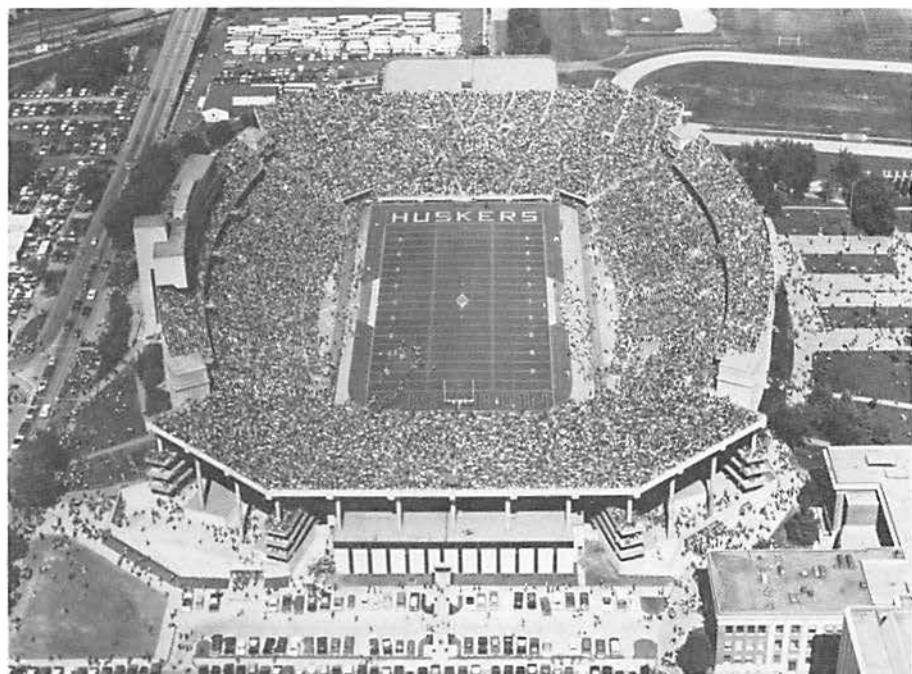

The University of Nebraska-Lincoln now has nine colleges, plus four Schools and many other programs. Thirty-nine doctoral level, 61 masters, 110 undergraduate and 15 pre-professional areas of study are offered.

Lack of financial support forced the University in 1888 to close the Medical College it had opened in Lincoln five years earlier. In 1902, the University reentered the field of medical education, taking over the Omaha Medical College. This became the University of Nebraska Medical Center in Omaha.

Since the adoption of the Nebraska constitution in 1875, the University has been governed by an elected Board of Regents. In 1968, pursuant to Legislative action and in a city-wide election in Omaha, the Board of Regents was made responsible for governance of the former municipal University of Omaha, renamed the University of Nebraska at Omaha. In 1970 the number of Regents was increased from six to eight. This number was increased again in 1974, when a representative of the student body from each of the three campuses became a non-voting member.

In 1971, the chief executive officer of the University was given the title of President. The executive heads of the three components were accorded the titles of chancellor and Vice President.

Football Fun For Fans

by
Wayne L. Behymer

Test your knowledge of College football, particularly Missouri Tiger Football with this page of puzzlers. No score to keep this week. Just have fun. (Answers on page 62)

TIGER FROM THE PAST - WHO AM I?

1. Played High School ball in Evanston, IL.
2. Started College career as running back.
3. Lettered as Freshman.
4. All conference in 1976 and 1977.
5. Now playing for Oakland Raiders.

JUST FOR FUN

A professional team could put a pretty good offensive unit on the field comprised of former Tigers who are now active in the NFL. See what kind of offensive unit you can come up with using former Tigers now active (including injured reserve) in the NFL. For some positions there are more than one to pick from. (No points for this — it's just for fun)

If you want to make it more interesting, those positions where there are no former Tigers currently active, fill in with the most recent to play that position.

Quarterback

Running backs (2)

Wide receivers (2)

Tight End

Guards (2)

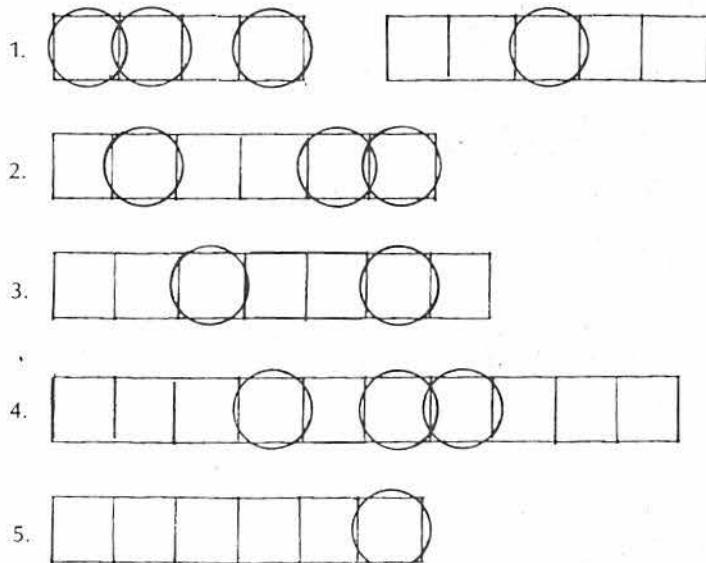

Tackle (2)

Center

SCRAMBLED NAME

Fill in each word below using the clue given. Then take the letters that are circled, rearrange them and you have the first and last name of a former Heisman Trophy winner.

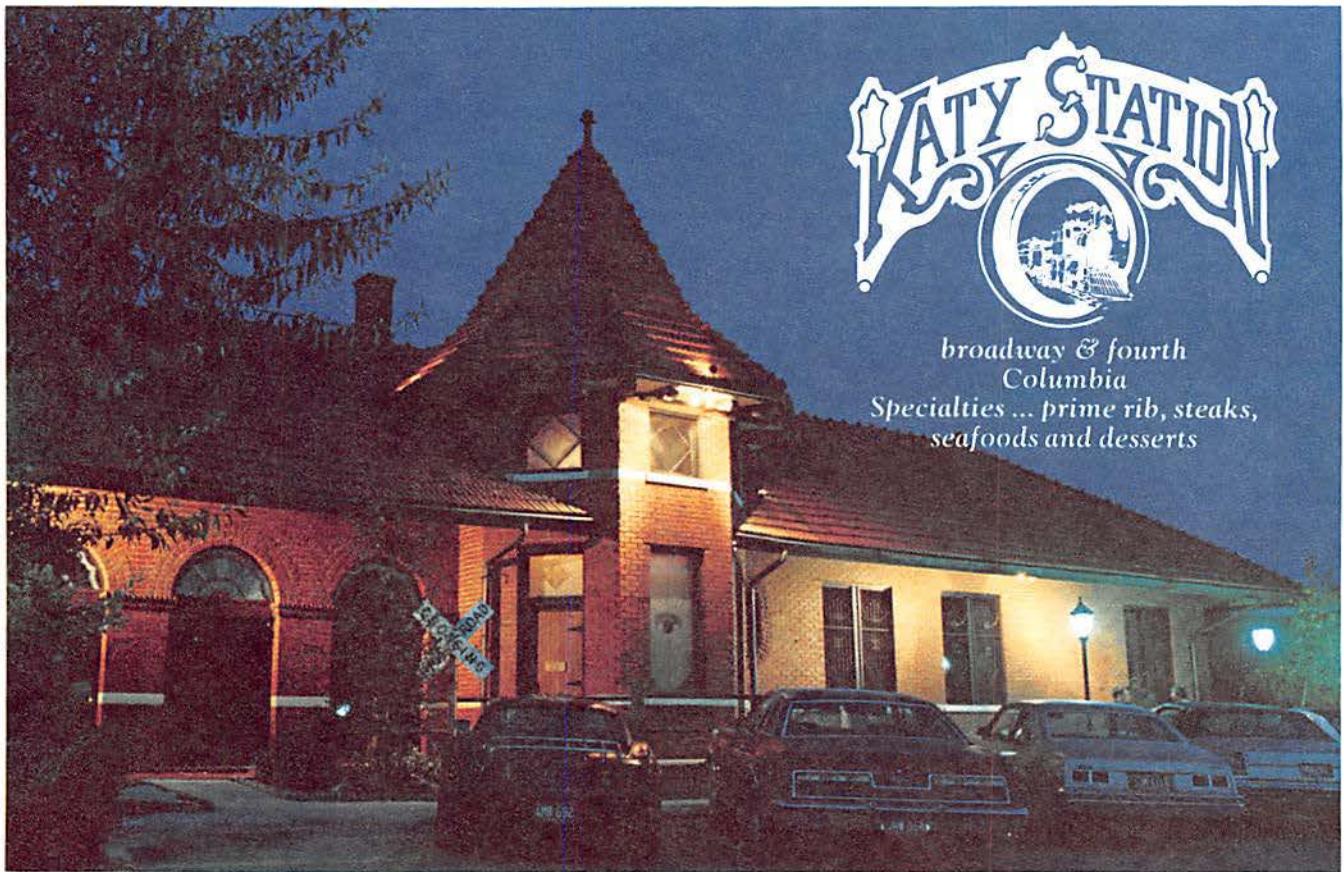

1. Associate Director of Athletics at Missouri (first and last names)
2. Named College football coach-of-the-year last year by Walter Camp Football Foundation. (last name)
3. We beat this team in 1965 Sugar Bowl.
4. Former Tiger now plays for San Diego (last name).
5. This linebacker has started most of this years games (last name.)

MAZE

Remember When

5 Years Ago
Nov. 2, 1974
Missouri 52, Kansas State 15

Tony Galbreath ran for one touchdown and threw for another in addition to rushing for 194 yards before 23,000 fans at Manhattan as the Tigers defeated the Wildcats 52-15.

Missouri took a 7-0 first-quarter lead as Galbreath completed a 20-yard touchdown pass to end Mark Miller. Quarterback Steve Pisarkiewicz added to the lead with a one-yard TD run early in the second period.

Tim Gibbons kicked a 25-yard field goal, before K-State got on the scoreboard when John Tuttle took a pitch from quarterback Steve Grogan, dodged a tackler and then threw back to Grogan at the six, who scored untouched.

The teams exchanged third-quarter touchdowns, before Missouri exploded for four fourth-quarter TDs including freshman Joe Stewart's 61-yard run. Other scores were a seven-yard run by Galbreath, a 22-yard pass from Pisarkiewicz to Don Muse and a seven-yard run by Jornel Williams.

The Tigers rushed for 355 yards for the afternoon on their way to 480 total yards. The victory upped the Tiger record to 3-1 in conference and 5-3 overall.

15 Years Ago
November 7, 1964
Missouri 16, Colorado 7

The Tigers rolled up 218 yards on the ground against the Buffaloes as they scored a 16-7 Homecoming victory in front of 46,000 fans.

Colorado scored in the first quarter on a two-yard run by quarterback Bernie McCall. Steve Graves of the Buffs had recovered a Missouri fumble on the MU eight-yard line to set up the score.

Earl Denny of Missouri returned the ensuing kickoff to the 49 and the Tigers marched the remaining 51 for the score, running on every play. Lane took it in from six with Bill Bates adding the extra point to make it 7-7.

The Tigers took the lead on their next possession on a nine-play, 82-yard drive. From his own 49, Lane tossed a screen pass to Charlie Brown who took it 51 yards for the TD. Bates' kick was blocked and the score at half was 13-7.

The second half was scoreless except for a 26-yard field goal by Bates.

Brown gained 65 yards on 12 carries to lead the Tigers' offense. Lane and Denny added 58 and 47 respectively. In the passing department Lane was 5-14 for 90 yards and one TD.

The win improved Mizzou's overall mark to 4-3 and Big Eight record to 3-2.

25 Years Ago
Nov. 6, 1954
Missouri 19, Colorado 19

Bob Bauman scored on a one-yard run with just more than a minute remaining to bring the Tigers back and tie the highly-rated Colorado Buffaloes before 24,000 spectators in Columbia.

Missouri took an early lead when quarterback Vic Eaton connected with Jim Jennings for a 58-yard scoring play. Colorado returned the ensuing kickoff to take the lead. Emerson Wilson took the ball to the left, then lateraled to Carroll Hardy who went wide and outran the coverage for the score. The point after was good and CU held a 7-6 first-quarter lead.

Quarterback Jack Brase scored a second-quarter TD for Mizzou, culminating a 10-play, 72-yard drive. Ray Detring added the extra point.

In the third quarter, Colorado, the nation's number three rushing team, scored a pair of unanswered touchdowns as John "The Beast" Bayuk hit paydirt from five and three yards out, setting up Mizzou's fourth-quarter comeback.

Missouri's record went to 3-3-1 after the game, ending the Tigers hopes for an Orange Bowl bid.

Halftime

Nostalgia is the order of the day as the halftime show features "A Musical History of Marching Mizzou—1930-1960."

The stroll through yesteryear begins with a drill to the "National Emblem March," followed by the band's rendition of "Wailing With Woody" featuring the clarinet section.

Marching Mizzou then presents a saxophone-dance routine to "I Dig Rock 'n' Roll Music," before the Golden Girls bring us into a more modern era by performing to the Beatles' music of "I Wanna Hold Your Hand." This number will be under the direction of Charles Emmons, former Director of Marching Mizzou.

For the finale, it's "Kids," from "Bye, Bye Birdie," and then the classic exit of the "Floating Mizzou Tigers."

Today's pre-game entertainment is by the Willard (Mo.) High School Marching Band.

Tiger Hostesses

A cordial hello and a sincere smile are the bywords of the Tiger Hostesses.

The Hostesses are a group of Missouri coeds who become actively involved in the athletic program. Acting as a Hostess gives each one the chance to be an integral part of the Tiger team rather than a bystander.

Working closely with the athletic department, the Hostesses have an opportunity to meet coaches and players and to understand and aid the development of the entire athletic program.

Most of the Hostesses' duties revolve around recruiting—with an active day during each home game. The Hostesses meet with prospective players and their parents prior to the game and introduce them to university life by answering questions about the campus and its activities. During the game the Hostesses accompany the recruits to the press box, where they observe the behind-the-scenes work and get a good view of the action on the field.

Thanks to the work of the Hostesses, the recruits are now more familiar with Mizzou, and the coaches are able to dwell on the sports advantages of the university in their personal meetings with the athletes.

A Hostess' duties do not come close to ending there, however. Other responsibilities include welcoming opposing teams, helping at coaches' clinics, eating Wednesday dinner with Tiger athletes at the dining hall and attending alumni banquets.

But recruiting is the main concern, and both sides seem to benefit from the part played by the Hostesses.

"The Hostesses perform a valuable role in that they are usually a student's first contact with the University," says George Walker, Missouri's academic services manager who serves as Hostess coordinator, "and the impact they leave can be positive or negative. With this in mind it should be obvious that the Hostess program can be a vital part of the entire recruiting effort."

Hostesses are chosen in the spring of their freshman year for a two-year tenure by department personnel and returning hostesses. Grades, poise, familiarity with the university and personality are the major considerations in the final selection.

The Golden Girls

Though the names and faces change from year to year, the Golden Girls continue to be a trademark of the Missouri athletic scene.

A vital facet of Marching Mizzou, the Golden Girls have accompanied the Tiger band on its trips throughout the United States and overseas, in addition to entertaining at many athletic and alumni functions. They also have become a favorite attraction when appearing with Mini Mizzou at away football and home basketball games as well as pep rallies.

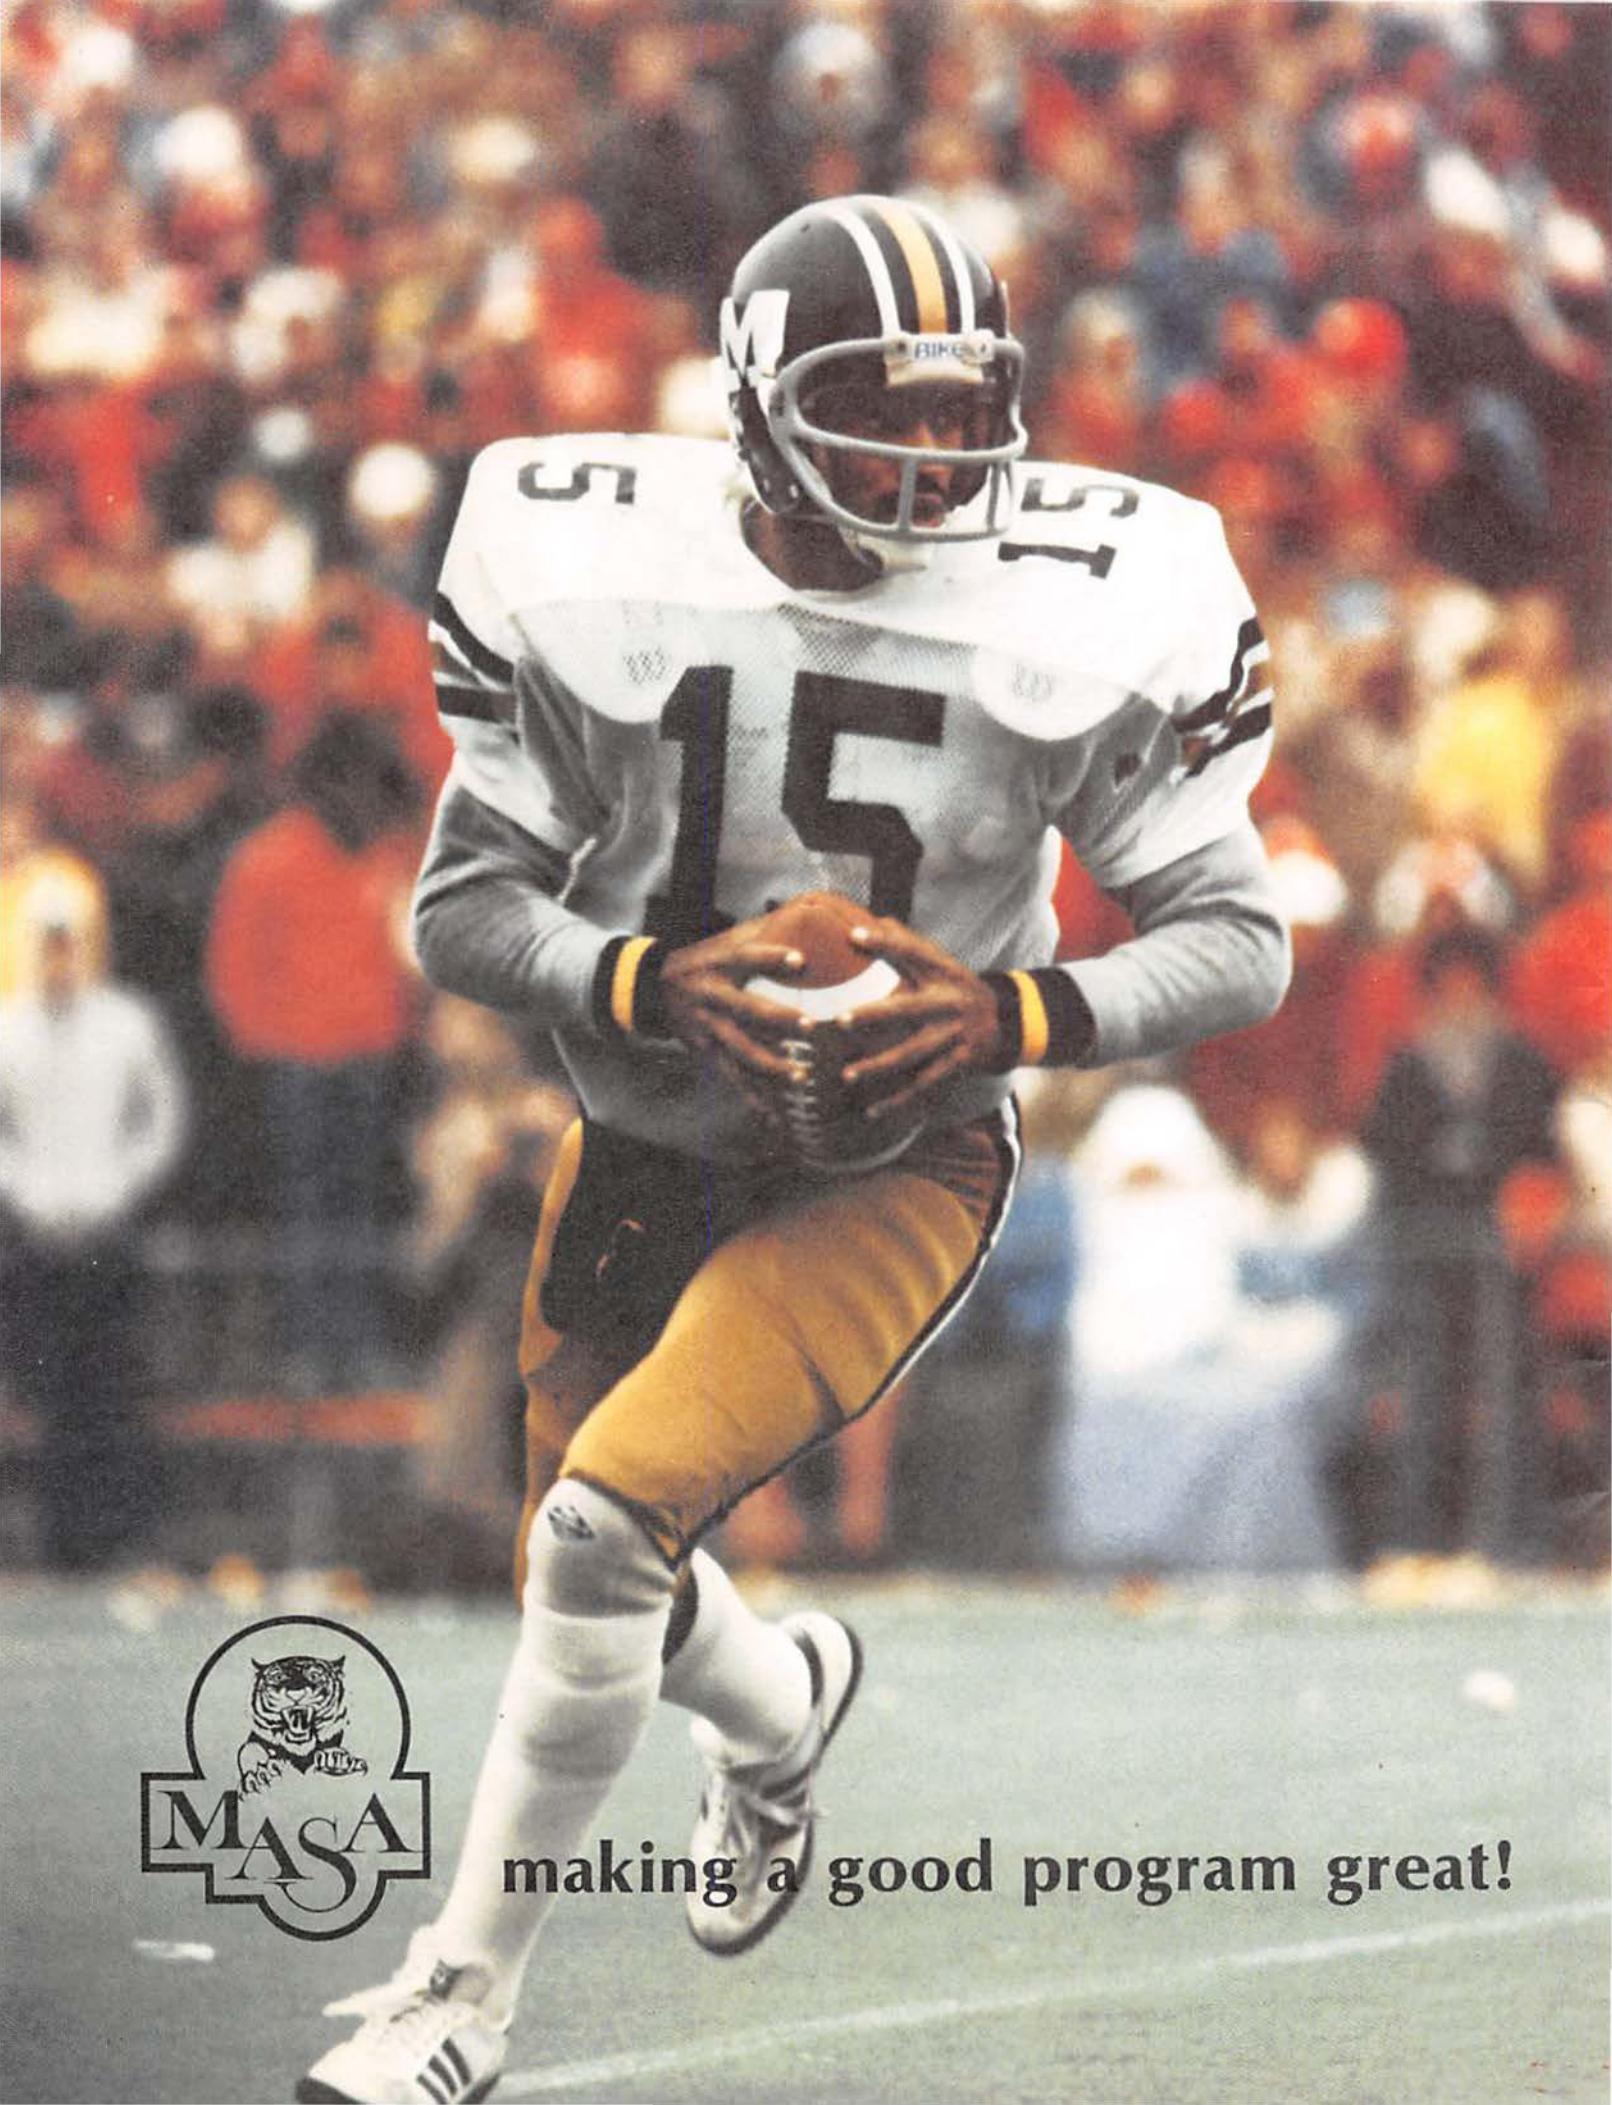

Under the direction of Debi Cartwright, a Golden Girl herself in 1974 and '75, this year's squad has been expanded to 25, enabling the group to be represented at more events and to add extensive variation and color to its routines. Long hours are spent in practice, particularly before home football games when original halftime shows must be developed with Marching Mizzou each week.

There's no doubt that few groups add more to the color of Missouri football. That's why today's MIZZOU FOOTBALL MAGAZINE salutes the Golden Girls.

A Message From Dave Hart

The University of Missouri-Columbia is committed to a winning athletic program. As a participant in the Big Eight conference, we want to be a power on the gridiron, the basketball court - in all intercollegiate competition. We want to make a good program great and gain the national recognition Mizzou deserves.

In order to enjoy this kind of success, we need your help! We need you to join us in this effort. Like other major schools, we find that a strong athletic program can no longer be supported by traditional sources of athletic revenue (gate receipts, concessions). Spiraling costs and added programs have outgrown these sources and so we are turning to our loyal Tiger supporters for help.

We are asking you to play a vital part in the success of Tiger athletics with a contribution to the Mizzou Athletic Scholarship Associates (MASA). MASA is designed to provide recognition to donors who designate their University gift for athletics. Your MASA contribution will be used to provide athletic scholarships to student athletes and to generally increase the quality of athletics at Ol' Mizzou.

There are a number of ways, to contribute to MASA. As you consider a contribution, you should remember with pride that the athletic program is self-supporting.

Join us in making a good program great.

Sincerely,

Director
Intercollegiate Athletics

Why MASA?

The Mizzou Athletic Scholarship Associates is designed to provide recognition to donors who designate their University gift for athletics. Those individuals designating their gift to MASA are 1) providing financial aid, in the form of athletic scholarships, to deserving student athletes and 2) promoting the quality of athletics at Ol' Mizzou.

The Tiger athletic department fields sixteen intercollegiate sports. Each of these sports, revenue and non-revenue, men's and women's, receives funds for athletic scholarships. most of the teams are funded to the maximum level allowable under NCAA and AIAW rules. The annual budget for these scholarships exceeds $668,000.00 annually!

Many Tiger greats were athletic scholarship recipients such as Paul Chrisman and Kellen Winslow in football, Suzanne Alt and Sharon Farrah in women's basketball, Greg Cypret in baseball, Norm Stewart and Willie Smith in men's basketball, Mel Gray in football and track, Charlie McMullen and Ben Plucknett in men's track.

Providing scholarship assistance for Mizzou student-athletes is a MASA contributor's biggest benefit.

The Mizzou Athletic Scholarship Associates Districts

The state of Missouri is divided into fourteen Mizzou Athletic Scholarship Associates districts. We are in the process of organizing each district and our goal is to be operational by January 1, 1980. MASA's success depends upon our volunteer chairmen and committee people in each district. We have listed our contributors from each district by club level.

The Mizzou Club indicates an annual contribution of $5,000 or more, the Tiger Club an annual contribution of $2,500 to $5,000, the Big M Club an annual contribution of $1,000 to $2,500 dollars, the V Club an annual contribution of $500 to $1,000, the Coaches Club an annual contribution of $250 to $500, and the Boosters Club an annual contribution of $100 to $250.

If your name is not listed properly or has been omitted, please contact the MASA office and we will correct any errors.
